

Keisuke Tsukada

Professional Volleyball Coach & Data Analyst

Height : 167cm

Weight : 62kg

Aug 2019 – Aug 2021

As a researcher from JOC (Japanese Olympic Committee)

Worked for Temple University Women's Volleyball Team as an assistant coach & data analyst

- 2021, Spring - AAC (American Athletic Conference) 2nd place
- 121st to 26th in the number of All American RPI rank (2019 Fall – 2021 Spring)

An accomplished coach in my native Japan, I have experience at both the professional and collegiate levels. From 2014-19, I coached the Toray Arrows, also serving as an analyst for the team. Most recently, I helped the team finish second in the top professional league and first in the championship.

At the collegiate level, I worked as an assistant coach and analyst for the Waseda University team from 2014-2016. While serving as interim head coach in 2015, my team won a championship in the top college tournament in East Japan in 2015, the first for the program in twenty-one years.

I completed my undergraduate at Kwansei Gakuin University with a degree in economics in 2012. I earned a master's degree in sports science from Waseda University in 2015.

The former setter holds a senior coach license in Japan, authorizing me to coach at the professional level.

High School: Tohrei Gakuen Fujisawa High School (Apr 2006 – Mar 2009)

From November 2020, the YouTube channel "Thumbs Up Smile" was opened to share volleyball information, and the number of subscribers reached 1,000 on January 2, 2021.